

F. Seven (7) days after the date of the group of Sick Pigs' arrival at the Producer's facility, Cargill will evaluate the health status and prognosis of the group of Sick Pigs. Depending on the results of Cargill's evaluation and if the sickness has not sufficiently subsided, Cargill may require that the Producer hold and treat the group of Sick Pigs for up to another seven (7) days, at which time they will be re-evaluated by Cargill. If the sickness has not sufficiently subsided, then Cargill and Producer shall agree on a rebate, credit or other compensation for the group of Sick Pigs, provided that in no event shall Cargill be obligated or otherwise required to remove such group of Sick Pigs from Producer's facility, purchase the group of Sick Pigs from Producer or otherwise reacquire ownership of any group of Sick Pigs. Producer shall make payment for any group of Sick Pigs within thirty (30) days after their delivery date.

G. Producer understands and agrees that Cargill is under no obligation to provide or pay to Producer any rebate, credit or other compensation of any kind whatsoever for the group of Sick Pigs, as all pigs sold by Cargill to Producer are sold "as is", with no health warranties express or implied. Further, no payment, rebate, credit or provision of anything of value by Cargill to Producer under this Procedure for the group of Sick Pigs shall obligate Cargill to other or future payments or compensation of any kind, and is not an admission by Cargill of any liability.
